DANIELSON

Putnam police visited Danielson just before 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, and having obtained the services of Night Officer Martin Wolfe, conducted a search that led to the arrest of William Kempf, who was found asleep in a lawn on Winifred street. Captain David Delage and Officer Eugene Gibson, the Putnam officers, wanted Kempf transferred to charges of sleeping on a lawn, but the Putnam police, as told in the Putnam news this morning.

Herewith the Bulletin presents the first of a series of statements, to be issued monthly hereafter by the selectmen showing road costs and how it is apportioned between members of the board for their districts. This first statement covers a two months' period—August and September. The portion of the statement pertaining to selectmen's pay and transportation covers a period of three months—July, August and September. It will be noted that while only the first two months of the current fiscal year are covered by this statement, nearly one-half of what is known as the highway appropriation for the year has been expended.

The figures in the selectmen's pay and transportation part of the statement cover the period to Oct. 4, 1922:

Distribution of Expenses for Roads

To Sept. 30, 1922.

Gilbert—Roads, $1,750.36; bridges, $59.15; culverts, $16.14; total, $2,425.65. Bacon—Roads, $1,231.12; bridges, $9.50; culverts, $84.25; cut brush, $54; railings, $6; total, $1,379.99. Alvord—Roads, $3,074.04; bridges, $124.40; railings, $3.96; total, $3,202.40. Totals—Roads, $6,054.52; bridges, $218.65; culverts, $272.10; cut brush, $54; railings, $9.96.

Selectmen's Pay and Transportation. Gilbert—Selectman, $12.50; transportation, $21.50; total, $34.00. Bacon—Selectman, $14.50; transportation, $22; total, $36.50. Alvord—Selectman, $24; transportation, $34.50; total, $58.50.

The difficulty over a motor track taken out of Ernest J. Moran's property on Oak street and returned Monday by men who were described as strangers has been satisfactorily adjusted. The entire affair was better understood Tuesday and the tangle straightened out, Chief John McFarland said.

At Plainfield Tuesday morning the death occurred of the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Phillips, who with Mrs. Phillips' sister, Mrs. Phoebe Herbert and Mrs. Jennie Motho, lost their lives as the result of the appalling grade crossing accident at Devil's Den in Sterling on Sunday, June 18, of this year. The child, 14 months of age at the time of her death, was in the ill-fated automobile and was buried out and injured when the locomotive crashed against it, into the four car. Death of the child, which recovered entirely from its injuries, was said Tuesday to have been due to natural causes.

Motorists, especially those unfamiliar with that immediate locality, are complaining that the metal watering font at the junction of Main and Reynolds streets, where the state highway leads out through Reynolds street to Providence, is a menace to their safety, especially on stormy nights such as Monday.

There seems to be a growing impression that the font should either be removed or a light placed upon it so that it may be readily seen by drivers and accidents avoided. It might be advantageously used and the purpose for which it was erected preserved by placing a light and road guides upon it, as has been previously pointed out in this column. At present during the night season it is little better than a dangerous road obstruction certain to involve someone in serious difficulty sooner or later.

Entries for the tournaments being planned at the Bohemian club are coming in so rapidly as to please the committee that is in charge of the arrangements. These fall tournaments in the billiard room of the club always attract general interest in the club and afford much entertainment for the big gallery always on hand to see the nightly contests.

Many Danielson people were more or less surprised upon awakening Tuesday morning to find the borough intact, so severe was the storm of Monday night. Streets ran with water, while the lightning flashed and the thunder rolled. It was a real storm, one of the most severe of all the year, but caused little damage hereabouts.

Persons picked up on roads and name plates indicating that some parts of many automobiles had one seen about these roads prompts the suggestion that other plates bearing pet names for cars might be brought into use and be big producers of revenue. For instance, Little Pal might be a name for a car and a man like real well. Love Bird would not be so bad for some other cars. And in the endless selections of which one may choose are you and I, Night Hawk, Hotchikland, etc.

Miss Mary Gier visited with friends in Worcester Tuesday.

Miss Edith Vaughan, who has been housekeeper for Selectman and Mrs. James Bacon of Goodyear for several years, is to sail from New York Thursday on the Cynthia for Liverpool. She will visit in England for several months. Mr. and Mrs. Bacon accompanied Miss Vaughan to New York Tuesday.

Members of the Treble-Clef club are to meet this evening at Miss Margaret C. Sullivan of Academy street.

PUTNAM

Following a meeting of the town school committee, it was announced at the office of the secretary, Attorney Charles L. Torrey, Tuesday morning that Putnam is to have an evening school again this year and that the first session will begin next Monday evening. A definite schedule of session nights had not been arranged as of Tuesday, but the school probably will be held at least three nights each week and a total of 75 sessions will be held during the period before the school closes next spring.

The school committee appointed L. P. Battey as director of emigrant education and Americanization, a position for which he is eminently well fitted. Mr. Battey has directed evening school work very successfully in this city for several years. He is to receive $40 per month in this capacity, half of which will be paid by the state. It is expected that Principal John J. O'Brien of the Israel Putnam school and Miss Edna A. Gallant, who taught in the evening school the past two years, will be two of the teachers.

Every effort will be made during the present week to interest all who might benefit from attendance at this school to enroll for its sessions. A special effort will be made and a canvass conducted to the end that many of foreign birth who are unfamiliar with the English language may be enrolled.

Within a few days the city of Putnam will come into possession of 22 acres of land the purchase of which has been authorized by a special city meeting at which 23 electors voted an appropriation of $1500 to be used in acquiring the property.

The land is located south of the city on the easterly side of the Norwich branch of the N. Y. N. H. and H. R. R. and is bordered on the south by the highway that runs westerly from Killingly avenue at the Randolph Bullard place to a point near the Wheaton and Putnam Country club properties.

The city has immediate use for some of this land. A special agent of the new railroad is the fact that is bordered by a railroad and offers opportunity for putting in a side track at any time the city feels it has needs for such facilities.

Fannie E. Hager, wife of Edward G. Hager, died during Monday at the Hager home in East Woodstock, where the Hagers have been resident for years. Mrs. Hager succumbed after a long illness. She was 45 years of age. Mrs. Luther Place and Mrs. E. L. Barrows of East Woodstock are sisters and Arthur Dodge of the same village is a brother of the deceased.

Kleanor L. Bostow, Hall, wife of Noble Hall, died Monday at the Day Kimball hospital in this city. Mrs. Hall was a native of Killingly, born February 25, 1884, a daughter of William F. and Frances J. Warren Bostow. Her early education was obtained in the school at East Putnam. About 14 years ago Mrs. Hall was married to Walter Enz and with her husband went to Switzerland. Upon her return she came to the home of her parents at South Woodstock. About two years ago she was married to Mr. Hall and they lived in a home on the Putnam Heights road. Mrs. Hall is survived by her parents, three brothers and two sisters.

Tuesday afternoon funeral services for William Henry Harris, who died last Saturday, were conducted at his home by Rev. John C. Stoddard, pastor of the Baptist church. Burial was in Grove street cemetery, a Masonic burial service conducted at the grave by members of Quinebaug lodge.

Eugene Brousseau, who was injured in an automobile accident Sunday evening, has broken collar bone and a rib and a large lump on the side of his head as a result of the incident. He remained as a patient at the Day Kimball hospital during Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tahol, married here on Monday of last week, have returned from their wedding trip. While motoring through New York state last week, at a point between Schenectady and Utica, they encountered a snow storm which proved a most trying experience.

Mrs. Herbert J. Smith, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia the past few days, was reported Tuesday as resting comfortably.

The line up of candidates in the town of Thompson promises a lively and sharply contested election there a week from next Tuesday.

Mrs. Caroline Gobin, wife of Joseph Gobin, is dead at her home here. Attorney Arthur S. MacDonald was in Danielson Tuesday to represent a client in the Killingly town court.

This city was fairly deluged with rain Monday night and in the outlying country the rush of water again washed out some highways. Lightning and thunder featured the storm, which was followed by a sharp drop in temperature.

Kempf, bound over in the city court Tuesday morning, was of a watch valued at $25 and the property of Mrs. Rosie Levine.

In Danielson, where he has been making his headquarters for some time, officers have heard that he has remarked to some of his friends of the past few weeks that he could "get by" without working and since Tuesday's developments it would appear that this was not an idle boast. A Danielson citizen has told the Putnam police of finding Kempf prowling about his backyard just before midnight a week ago Sunday and of forcibly ejecting Kempf from the premises when he could give no adequate explanation of being thereon.

Another man who has been long sought by the police and who, with his wife, was apprehended in a corn crib at Lewis F. Battley's in the hope of finding their quarry, but did not find him. He was Arthur Cartier, alias Fred Cartier. He was wanted to answer to a charge that on August 5 last he stole $260, the property of Hector Bousquet, from a bureau drawer at the Bousquet place on Ballou street.

Sergeant Laird and Patrolman Ryan and Gibson made up the official party that captured Cartier at the Battley barn, where he was having a secluded tryst with his wife. In the city court Tuesday morning he pleaded guilty to having stolen the money and Judge Gelatine.

Kempf is of peculiar personality. He has been loitering about this city since the middle of the past summer, apparently with no means of support. He says that his home is in Ohio. He has a wife and child who were here for a time, but are now in Vermont, it is understood. He is neatly dressed, of good appearance and has had little difficulty in making friendships in this city and Putnam, Oct. 24.—In the person of William Kempf, 25, an ex-service man who says he was wounded while fighting overseas, the police undoubtedly have made a capture of a man who is responsible for the thefts of clothing and other articles from automobiles in this city during the past few weeks. In fact, Kempf has confessed to stealing a 1920 overcoat from the car of Albert H. Williams and a suit case containing clothing and a raincoat from the car in which John Lewick, who is employed at Pomfret by John Whipple, had left these articles.

Kempf was presented in the city court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of theft, pleaded guilty and was ordered held to await trial at the next term of the superior court, which has criminal jurisdiction. Judge M. H. Geisler fixed bail at $200, in default of which the prisoner was taken to the county jail at Brooklyn to remain until his case comes to trial in January.

Kempf was arrested in a barn where he was sleeping on Winter street in Danielson just before two o'clock Tuesday morning. Information that had come to the police indicated that he was the young man wanted for the milk thievery that has been going on here, so

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In the Name of the Law to be shown at the Breed Theatre.

The policeman is coming into his own in motion pictures. For perhaps the first time in the recent history of the film the most of men who safeguard the homes and the streets and the lives of the citizens of this town is the real hero of an important motion picture. The production, called "In the Name of the Law," is scheduled for showing at the Breed theatre tomorrow Friday and Saturday.

In the Name of the Law depicts, in most vivid fashion, the dangers with which the policeman has to cope in the every day performance of his duties. That, however, is not the main theme of the story. The plot has to do with the experiences of a plain little family—the family of the most of men who patrol the streets of San Francisco. All sorts of troubles beset the O'Hara's but finally happiness breaks through the barriers of misfortune. The story is a crowd-pleaser. In the cast are such excellent players as Ralph Lewis, in the role of Officer O'Hara, Ella Hall, Johnnie Walker, Ben and John Alexander and Emory Johnson. The sides play, which is a leading role, also is credited with the direction of the production.

The Prisoner of Zenda is to be shown for the last times today at the Strand theatre. The Prisoner of Zenda belongs, with the world's consent, to the place of immortality which Robinson Crusoe and Gulliver's Travels enjoy. It makes a highly successful stage play, and you will agree that it is a very good picture, which will be shown for the last times today at the Strand theatre—surprises in beauty, in imagination, and in adventurous excitement even the famous novel of Anthony Hope. It's a story that you will want to be among the fortunate ones who see this Metro photoplay.

"Clown Night" Featured at Broadway

Thursday, Friday, Saturday.

Years ago high class theatre frequently enhanced its program with a special attraction called an "afterpiece." Many times requests from the older theatregoers have been received by the management of the old-time theatre for the revival of the old-time afterpiece. To give the younger generation a sample of this hilarious form of entertainment, one of the best of the old afterpieces, The Doctor Shop, will be revived for the first time in many years during the next three days at the Broadway. These special entertainments are being billed as "Clown Night" as they are modeled after the days of the old-time theatre. They will be presented by the noted vaudeville comedian, Nat "Hoakim" Farnum, assisted by Jackie Farnum and entire personnel of the vaudeville. Other stars include Jack and Gladys, saxophone and accordion wizards; Eddie Purman and Olive Evans in the comedy, "Scoring a Touchdown on the Gridiron of Song"; Kramer and Grifflin in "All About Nothing." The feature picture is Eugene O'Brien in The Prophets Paradise.

Two Features at Strand Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Every actor or actress has a great moment in life and tiny Jackie Coogan is no exception.

His great moment—though he was not aware of it—came in Trouble, the new First National attraction scheduled for Thursday at the Strand theatre.

One scene of the picture shows Jackie's foster father, a wife beater, on trial, and the child is called as a witness for the prosecution. Standing before the judge and jury he gives a recital of the case and a description of the fight that is so vividly done the director did not have to resort to a single word of dialogue. Standing before the jury he gives a recital of the case and a description of the fight that is so vividly done the director did not have to resort to a single word of dialogue. Standing before the jury he gives a recital of the case and a description of the fight that is so vividly done the director did not have to resort to a single word of dialogue.

The second feature is Nanook of the North. Ladies, imagine never having to put your fur away in mothballs in the spring and taking them out in the fall and airing them in the sun. Of mothsballs the Eskimo knows nothing. As they are seen in the maffeloes Pathé feature, Nanook of the North at the Strand theatre Thursday they wear costumes of reindeer fur summer and winter.

The fur of the deer sheds easily and much, and Robert J. Flaherty, F. R. G. S., the great photographer of Nanook of the North and leader of five Sir William McKenna expeditions into the Hudson Bay regions of the far north tells of how, on a fifty-five day dog-sledge trip he ate deer hair with his bare hands.

The Eskimos lived on raw seal meat, which they caught on roasts, but Mr. Flaherty provided himself with a huge bag of baked beans. These would freeze hard and have to be broken off in chunks and thawed over a small oil stove he carried.

Faith Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R. will present at Slater Memorial hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 25, at 8 p. m., Mrs. Elizabeth P. Foster, D. C. H. reader, and Miss Nellie Zimmer, solo harpist. The program follows:

Cousin Kate, an English comedy in three acts. Characters: Cousin Kate, Amy Spencer, Mrs. Spencer, Mr. Bartlett, Bobby Spencer, Heath Desmond, Mrs. Rice. Act I.—The Home of the Spencers. Mrs. Rice. (a) Gavotte. (b) Arabesque. (c) Dance de Sylphes. Delmar Godfrey. Act II.—The Ascot House. Mrs. Rice. (a) Valse Caprice. (b) Welsh Air. (c) Old Irish War March. Characterized. Miss Zimmer. Act III. Same as Act I. Mrs. Rice.

Oakville.—Robert W. Purvis, scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, Oakville Boy Scouts, has handed his resignation to the troop committee, to take effect at once. Mr. Purvis feels that other business takes up more of his time and he can efficiently give to both scouts and business.
